

Ideologies and identities in public spaces

discourse is a system composed of elements and limits.

it is a product of contestation and articulation: it is contingent, prone to change.

the focus can be mainly on one of more of the elements or on the limits.

a focus on the specific content makes it easier for to keep other contents and limits undefined. sibiu opted for this strategy.

a focus on the content is more complex process of definition. in luxembourg the contest is over discursive content.
